Cell 1.7k Getting more from fuel cell technology. The first in its class to feature a modular design, Calmat's new jet fuel cell unit is versatile and scalable. Improved, more compact and fully insulated, the unit is equipped with a virtual cathode stack design that allows for more efficient production of hydrogen-oxygen fuel. This advance increases electrolyte life and reduces operating temperature, giving the Calmat-Rusbridge Fuel Cell a unique opportunity to increase fuel cell efficiency, reduce system weight and improve system scalability.

Q: using python to simulate autoincrementing primary key from another table

I am using python to run a simulation, and I have two tables: station and visit (run time is long-tailed). I want to see how many station should be randomly picked up in order to achieve the target visit number. Previously, I have written the following line of code:

from random import randrange
count = 0
while count <= visit_num:
    count += 1
    x, y = randrange(station_num), randrange(station_num)
    station = [x, y]
```

However, I am wondering if there is a better way to do it? For example:

import random
count = 0
while count <= visit_num:
```
